

Fidelity National Financial Comments on Recent Announcements Regarding the Foreclosure Process

Jacksonville, Fla. -- (October 1, 2010) -- Fidelity National Financial, Inc. (NYSE:FNF) has noted that several lenders have announced that they have halted foreclosures and the sale of REO properties due to possible flaws in documentation used in the foreclosure process. FNF believes that this situation will not have a material adverse impact on its title business, for the following reasons, among others:

1. FNF's title insurance underwriters issue title policies on REO properties to new purchasers and lenders to those purchasers. FNF believes that these policies will not result in additional claims exposure to FNF because the new owners and their lenders would have the rights of good faith purchasers which should not be affected by potential defects in documentation.
2. Even if a court sets aside a foreclosure due to a defect in documentation, the foreclosing lender would be required to return to our insureds all funds obtained from them, resulting in no loss under the title insurance policy.

As a result, FNF does not believe that the recent announcements regarding potential defective foreclosure documentation will have a material adverse impact on its title business.

Fidelity National Financial, Inc. (NYSE:FNF), is a leading provider of title insurance, mortgage services, specialty insurance and information services. FNF is the nation's largest title insurance company through its title insurance underwriters - Fidelity National Title, Chicago Title, Commonwealth Land Title and Alamo Title - that collectively issue more title insurance policies than any other title company in the United States. FNF also provides flood insurance, personal lines insurance and home warranty insurance through its specialty insurance business and is a leading provider of global human resources, payroll, benefits and payment solutions through a minority-owned subsidiary, Ceridian Corporation.
